Trump to move to Russia After meeting with friend Putin

Anonymous tip leads to explosive story

By Tom Panzone, Jr. - The Panzone Report - © 2017

Vladimir Putin has had enough of Donald Trump's shenanigans. Trump will continue his life in exile. According to sources within Russia, the meeting between Trump and Putin was arranged by Jared Kershner on a sudden visit to Moscow, last week. Apparently, Trump has been offered an honorable way out of the Presidency—health reasons. With all the investigations going on, the Trump collusion with Russia will eventually be revealed and Trump will face treason charges. He will either face the firing squad or could even be imprisoned in Guantanamo. Putin would be exposed and face global disgrace. The deal: by removing Trump now, all investigations will be suspended. In any case, Trump is finding that the job is much more difficult than expected. The media scrutiny, the incompetence of Congress and the Senate and the public humiliation are too much to bear - literally driving him crazy. Ivanka is definitely not happy and feels that her father should retire. She has extensive ties in Russia through her BFF, Wendi Deng Murdoch who is also Putin's girl friend. They found a wonderful secure villa on a hill overlooking the sea where Trump can learn to relax and undergo treatment for his anxiety and stress. Melania will apparently remain in Trump Tower until she decides on her future. Trump is not expected to return to the US. More inside...

Sochi Luxury Villa will make Trump exile comfortable

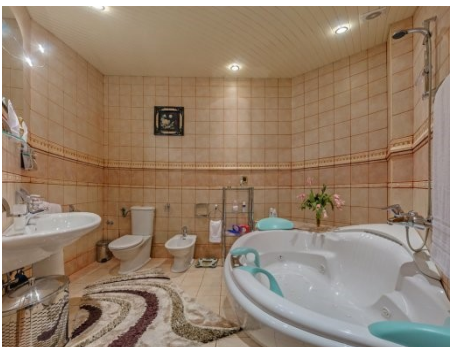

By Tom Panzone, Jr.—The Panzone Report - © 2017

Donald Trump will not be sorry to leave Washington and all his problems behind. Jared and Ivanka will take care of business. He will definitely enjoy his new luxury villa in the outskirts of Sochi. It even has an oval-like office where he will pretend to go to work when he feels like it. The pools, vistas and fresh air, without the stress of business and politics will do him good. Putin was very generous to offer such hospitality. It's an appropriate reward for delivering America to the Russians without firing a shot. Trump has earned his reward.

The villa is designed for hosting and entertaining guests in a relatively intimate setting. With 5 bedrooms and 6 baths it will be perfect when the entire Trump clan gathers on Father's Day. Trump will be allowed guests but they will need to be vetted by security. For his safety and peace of mind, the villa has no Internet. The closed circuit TV will only show approved programming that has been pre-recorded.

The villa comes with adequate staff and security. It's a luxury exile program. Trump is very fortunate to have been given this exit.

There is no golf course on the property but Trump will have membership at the New Sochi Golf and Spa resort. The state-of-the-art facility will include a hotel, a shopping mall, restaurants, discos and concert halls, tennis courts and swimming pools. Very nice retirement. ###

Clever idea solves veterans / border issues

By Tom Panzone via panzonereport.com - © 2017

President Trump's plan for a wall on the Mexican border is very disappointing. No vision. No ingenuity. Here's a creative Canadian plan leaked to the PRO. (Panzone Report Online). American real estate developers will love it.

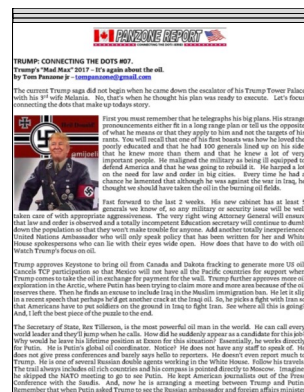

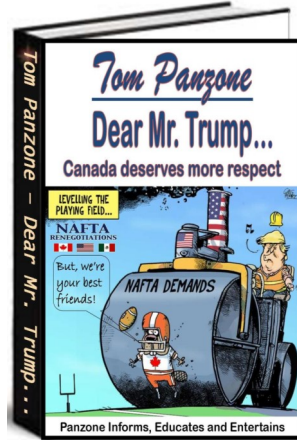

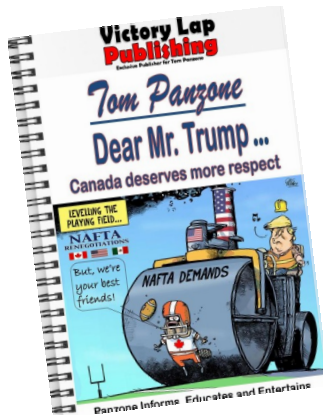

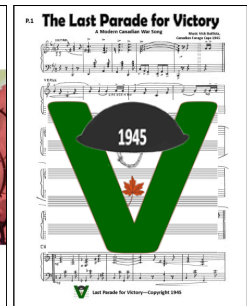

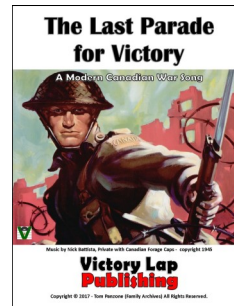

Welcome to the smart border communities of tomorrow where veterans will find the reward they deserve for their service, whether they are recovering from war injuries, learning new trades or continuing to serve in the Border Protection Agency. Because these residential pods are powered by resalable rooftop solar energy, all veterans will live rent free for as long as they chose to stay. Each apartment will be fully furnished. These communities will provide schools, medical and recreational facilities and living support services, such as markets, recycling and desalination plants. Most produce will be grown hydroponically, indoors, in controlled environments. We'll entertain ideas that incorporate solutions to the non-documented immigrant issues and other social problems, such as the opioid crisis. For details contact: tompanzone@gmail.com

Dear Mr. Trump, Canada deserves more respect is an explosive 80-page open letter to Mr. Trump and his supporters on both sides of the border. It's purpose is to demonstrate how Canada earned the respect and admiration of people around the world, except from the USA. Starts with Canada's victory over the USA in the War of 1812 and burned down the White house. Demonstrates how Canada has been a team player before, during and after all the American-led wars in the last 200 years. Shows how trade with Canada is eagerly sought by countries on all continents. Because this is an ebook, it educates about our respective countries with the clever use of hyperlinks, videos and online articles. Great teaching tool, will make you an instant expert on Canada. Also available as an AUDIO BOOK.
